The property of a substance which opposes the flow of electric current (or electricity) through it is called Resistance OR Resistance is the ability of a circuit which opposes current. Mica, Glass, Rubber, Wood etc. are the examples of resistive materials. The unit of resistance is OHM ($\hat{\text{C}}$) where $1\hat{\text{C}} = 1\text{V}/1\text{A}$. which is derived from the basic electrical Ohm's law = $V = IR$.

Non-linear least squares is the form of least squares analysis used to fit a set of m observations with a model that is non-linear in n unknown parameters ($m > n$). It is used in some forms of nonlinear regression. The basis of the method is to approximate the model by a linear one and to refine the parameters by successive iterations.

Linearity is the property of a mathematical relationship or function which means that it can be graphically represented as a straight line. Examples are the relationship of voltage and current across a resistor ($\hat{\text{C}}$), or the mass and weight of an object. Proportionality implies linearity, but linearity does not imply proportionality.

Linear regression is a method for modeling the relationship between one or more independent variables and a dependent variable. It is a staple of statistics and is often considered a good introductory machine learning method.
