Plastic is material consisting of any of a wide range of synthetic or semi-synthetic organic compounds that are malleable and so can be molded into solid objects.. Plasticity is the general property of all materials which can deform irreversibly without breaking but, in the class of moldable polymers, this occurs to such a degree that their actual name derives from this specific ability.

Extrusion is a process used to create objects of a fixed cross-sectional profile. A material is pushed through a die of the desired cross-section. The two main advantages of this process over other manufacturing processes are its ability to create very complex cross-sections, and to work materials that are brittle, because the material only encounters compressive and shear stresses.

Introduction []. Blown film extrusion is a technology that is the most common method to make plastic W films, especially for the packaging industry. The process involves extruding a tube of molten polymer W through a die and inflating to several times its initial diameter to form a thin film bubble. This bubble is then collapsed and used as a lay-flat film or can be made into bags.

The most often used method to produce high quantities of expandable beads of polystyrene is the suspension-polymerisation with a blowing agent . This process consists of two steps, namely the polymerisation where the granules are formed and the addition of pentane and/or other blowing agents, which diffuse into the granules . After this process the beads are sieved to get several fractions with ...

The dramatic increase in production and lack of biodegradability of commercial polymers, particularly commodity plastics used in packaging (e.g. fast food), industry and agriculture, focused public attention on a potentially huge environmental accumulation and pollution problem that could persist for centuries (Albertsson et al., 1987). The plastic waste is disposed off through landfilling ...
