Responsive web design (RWD) is an approach to web design that makes web pages render well on a variety of devices and window or screen sizes. Recent work also considers the viewer proximity as part of the viewing context as an extension for RWD. Content, design and performance are necessary across all devices to ensure usability and satisfaction.

In the ideal scenario, a dashboard UI would divide all info in bars and sections, but screen estate will rarely allow this in real terms. What are more important in UI design is visual order, and whether the viewer understands how elements are correlated, and depend on each other.. Dashboard design may be the hottest trend right now, but your web designing experience won't necessarily make ...
